

Peculiar Rain

Remembering you leaning 'neath that oak behind the barn

And the leaving and the lingering on
I was young enough to know about those things that matter most

You were you
Then you were gone
and I'm believing

Believing when you're here with me
In time the truth be told
I want to sink my teeth into your soul

Remembering those days listening to every Coltrane song
And the leaving and the lingering on
You were my Amazing Grace, My Holy hallowed ground
I'm singing your hallelujah song
And I'm believing

Believing when you're here with me
In time the truth be told
I want to sink my teeth into your soul
I can feel you breathing easily
This is all we'll ever need
I want to sink my teeth into your soul

There's a righteous wind that's trailing these cool cosmic rains
If I could sink my teeth into your soul I might never retreat again
But the volume keeps increasing and kindness keeps retreating and, and through the volume and the retreating and through it all I'm believing

Believing when you're here with me
And in time the truth be told
I want to sink my teeth into your soul
I can feel you breathing easily
This is all we'll ever need
I want to sink my teeth into your soul
Be in the light with you....
